What is an Erosion Control Blanket (ECB)?

Erosion Control Blankets (ECB) also known as Erosion Control Mats are a temporary to semi-permanent solution for soil stabilization and retention. ECBs are commonly used in new construction and landscaping, or areas that have not yet had a chance to develop natural ground cover vegetation.

How do erosion control blankets work?

Erosion Control Blankets are primarily used on slopes/channels that need vegetation to eventually grow. The soil is first cleared, seeded with native grass, then the blankets are rolled out and staked in place. The vegetation will grow in and through them over time, and simultaneously the blankets slowly degrade and the new vegetation will remain.
