What is the difference between down vs down alternative?

The primary difference between down vs. down alternative is the filling: while down is sourced from the soft undercoat of birds, down alternative is made from a synthetic polyester material that mimics traditional down's natural softness. Down and down alternatives are some of the most popular filling types for pillows and duvet inserts.

What does down mean?

The meaning of DOWN is toward or in a lower physical position. How to use down in a sentence.

What is down used for?

Down is frequently used in bedding pieces, including pillows, comforters, and mattress toppers. "When we think of high-end sleeping, we often think of down pillows, down comforters, and down mattress toppers," says Andrew E. Colsky, founder of National Sleep Center. There are different kinds of down from different kinds of birds.

What is down alternative bedding?

Down alternative bedding has a similar look and feel to down, but instead of actual bird down, it's constructed from human-made fibers. These are also usually placed within a soft, cotton covering. The material is typically cotton or polyester. In terms of appearance and physical touch, down and down alternative bedding are very, very similar.

What is down bedding?

Down bedding typically features a cotton exterior that's filled with light and fluffy down feathers, says Patric Richardson of The Laundry Evangelist. These are the soft feathers found underneath a bird's visible feathers, and it offers an incredible amount of warmth, insulation, and cloud-like softness.

Why do you need a down alternative?

To achieve the same warmth as a fluffy, lofty down comforter, you'll need a much heavier-feeling down alternative. Down is just more breathable as a material. Down feels more luxurious. Lasts longer with proper care. Better insulation. Warmer. More breathable. Down can cause problems with allergies. Requires more care. Why Choose Down Alternative?
